

Mind, Soul, World: Consciousness in Nature

A Templeton Colloquium at the NDIAS

March 14-15, 2016 * 104 McKenna Hall

Led by David Bentley Hart, Templeton Fellow at the NDIAS

Monday, March 14

9:00 am Introduction

11:00 am The Problems with the Materialist
Reduction of Consciousness

Gerald McKenny, University of Notre Dame

Janet Soskice, University of Cambridge

*Luke Wright, University of Virginia

2:00 pm Can Consciousness Evolve or Emerge from Matter?

Stephen R. L. Clark, University of Liverpool

*Celia Deane-Drummond, University of Notre Dame

Michael Hanby, Pontifical John Paul II Institute

4:00 pm Intentionality and the Transcendent
Ends of Consciousness

John Betz, University of Notre Dame

*Gretchen Reydam-Schils, University of Notre Dame

David C. Schindler, Pontifical John Paul II Institute

Tuesday, March 15

9:00 am The Classical Metaphysics of the Soul

Paul Griffiths, Duke University

John Milbank, University of Nottingham

*Anna Bonta Moreland, Villanova University

11:00 am Eastern Contributions to the Understanding of Consciousness

Robert Gimello, University of Notre Dame

*Bradley Malkovsky, University of Notre Dame

R. Trent Pomplun, Loyola University Maryland

2:00 pm The Soul and the Whole of Being

William Desmond, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven

*Jennifer Martin, University of Notre Dame

Cyril O'Regan, University of Notre Dame

4:00 pm Conclusions and Discussion of Closing Thoughts and Comments

Sessions will be simulcast live on NDIAS website.
For more information, visit our website: ndias.nd.edu.

This event made possible with generous funding from the

John
Templeton
Foundation

Notre Dame Institute for ADVANCED STUDY

Plunkert